Prepared. For Life.®

The Boy Scouts of America's motto is "Be Prepared" and nothing could be more fitting for a Scout Camporee than a Community Emergency Response Training course (CERT). CERT provides citizens with basic training in disaster preparedness and response. Citizens have come to expect that help will arrive immediately when they report an emergency. In the event of a major disaster, first responders will be overwhelmed with the number of individual emergencies. If ordinary citizens apply basic survival training immediately following any type of disaster, more lives can be saved. Almost 300 Scouts and 71 adults from Pikes Peak Council received hands-on CERT training from the El Paso County Sheriff's Office and learned how to help themselves, their families, their neighbors, and even their pets during and immediately following a disaster. During the weekend CERT course, Scouts were trained on modules that included advanced first aid, triage, human and animal CPR, basic search and rescue, lifts and carries, disaster preparedness and a mass casualty exercise.

Patricia Baxter, Emergency Manager for the El Paso County Sheriff's Office says of the mass casualty exercise, "The Scouts were given a scenario such as a bus accident... We moulaged (simulated wounds on volunteers) 25 victims and the Scouts assessed the accident victims for medical problems, triaged them, provided first aid and evacuated them to an ambulance staging area. I believe the most beneficial training was this exercise as it required the Scouts to put their training to use."

The CERT course certainly parallels what boys learn in Scouting through merit badges such as First Aid and Emergency Preparedness, yet CERT takes it a step further by testing the Scouts on their training through the use of full scale exercises with victims. The course is a natural extension of the training and first aid programs offered by the BSA. The CERT weekend proved invaluable as it gave Scouts the confidence to put these new skills to use if needed in potential future disaster situations.

Jim Schreck, Ute District Commissioner for Pikes Peak Council, commented that the CERT course "put disaster preparedness in the forefront of the boys' minds by having them ask 'How do I protect my family?' and make them think about 'What If...?' scenarios".

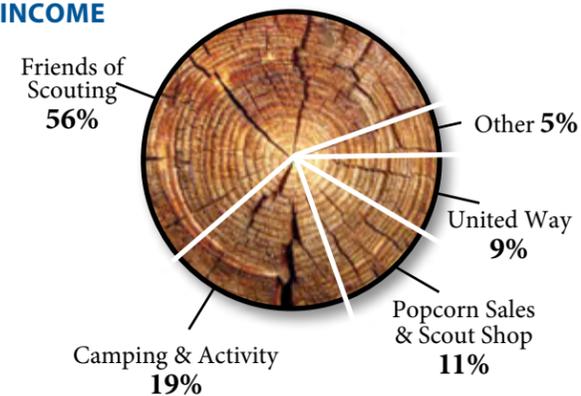

WHAT DOES PIKES PEAK COUNCIL HAVE PLANNED IN THE FUTURE?

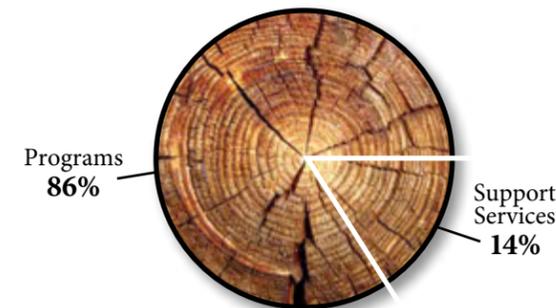

Youth thriving within the Scout Program, becoming engaged citizens, and taking on life's challenges by using the principles taught in Scouting.
